about the artist

AVELINO J. CORTINA IV

Born and raised in La Jolla, CA, beauty was a notion introduced to me ripely. At a young age, I developed a keen interest in the intersection of technology, humanities, and how design can influence these subjects. This passion has fueled my design brand, and inspires every project I work on. The idea behind this zine is food for thought, sharing ideas that I develop, and gaining perspectnves, opinions, and feedback. Nothing here is proven, nor has it been studied, and has no basis more reliable than my own meandering experience.
